

FLUTE

- Non-Major Applied Lessons -

Students Applying for Lessons:

Please fill out the green lesson request application located on the bulletin board across from the Music Office, Music Building I. Place your request form in my faculty mailbox: Eleanor Armstrong (across the hall from the Music Office in the mailroom, 234-1, Music Building I).

The Graduate Teaching Assistant in Flute teaches the courses in applied flute, WWNDS 100J and 110J.

There are always more requests for lessons than can be accommodated. A list of those who have expressed an interest is maintained. You should get in touch with me (Prof. Eleanor Armstrong) immediately as the semester begins to determine if you are eligible for enrollment.

Priority for lessons is given first to music-majors who are studying flute as a secondary instrument, second to non-majors participating in School of Music ensembles, third to highly qualified non-major applicants.

Students who are admitted to applied study will be required to pay lesson fees. (Fees are posted on the bulletin board across from the Music Office.)
